One of the greatest misconceptions within the martial arts is the notion that all black belt holders are experts. It is understandable that those unacquainted with the martial arts might make this equation. However, students should certainly recognize that this is not always the case. Too often, novice black belt holders advertise themselves as experts and eventually even convince themselves.

The black belt holder has usually learned enough technique to defend themselves against single opponents of average ability. They can be compared to a fledgling that has acquired enough feathers to leave the nest and fend for themselves. The first degree is a starting point. The student has merely built a foundation. The job of building the house lies ahead.

The novice black belt holder will now really begin to learn technique. Now that they have mastered the alphabet, they can now begin to read. Years of hard work and study await them before they can even begin to consider themselves an instructor or expert. A good student will, at this stage, suddenly realize how very little they know.

The black belt holder also enters a new era of responsibility. Though a freshman, they have entered a strong honorable fraternity of the black belt holders of the entire world; and their actions inside and outside the training hall will be carefully scrutinized. Their conduct will reflect on all black belt holders and they must constantly strive to set an example for all grade holders.

Some will certainly advance into the expert stages. However, far too many will believe the misconception and will remain a novice, mentally and technically.

Patterns

Saju Jirugi- Four direction punch

Saju Makgi- Four direction block

Chon-Ji: means literally the "Heaven and the Earth".
It is, in the Orient, interpreted as the creation of the world or the beginning of human history; therefore, it is the initial pattern played by the beginner.
This pattern consists of two similar parts, one to represent the Heaven and the other the Earth. (19)

Dan Gun: Named after the Holy Dan Gun, the legendary founder of Korea in 2333 BC (21)

Do-San: is the Pseudonym of the Patriot Ahn Ch'Ang-Ho (1876-1938) who devoted his entire life to furthering the education of Korea and its independence movement (24)

Won-Hyo: was the noted monk who introduced Buddhism to the Silla Dynasty in the year of 686 A.D. (28)

Yul-Gok: is the pseudonym of the great philosopher and scholar Yi I (1536-1584) who was nicknamed the "Confucius of Korea".
The 38 movements refers to his birthplace on the 38th Latitude.
The Diagram (+/-) represents scholar.

Joong Gun: is named after the patriot An Joong-Gun who assinated Hiro-Bumi Ito, the first Japanese governor-general of Korea, known as the man who played the leading part of the Korea Japan merger.
There are 32 movements in the "pattern" which represent Mr. An's age when he was executed at Lui-Shung prison in 1910.

Toi-Gye: is the pen name of the noted scholar Yi Hwang (16th century) an authority on Neo-Confucianism.
The 37 movements of the pattern refer to his birth place on the 37th latitude.
The diagram (+/-) represents scholar.

Hwa Rang: is named after the Hwa-Rang youth group which originated in the Silla Dynasty about 1350 years ago.
This group eventually became the actual driving force for unification of the three Kingdoms of Korea.
The 29 movements refer to the Infantry Division, where TaeKwon Do developed into maturity.

Choong Moo was the name given to the great Admiral Yi Soon-Sin of the Lee Dynasty.
He was reputed to have invented the first armored battleship (Kobukson) in 1592, which is said to be the precursor of the present day submarine.
The reason why this pattern ends with a left hand attack is to symbolize his regrettable death, having

One Step Self Defense

35. Attack--Step in with high front punch
   Response--Duck under the attack, blocking with a left rising block, attack with right arc hand to neck. Continue forward, pushing the attacker's arm up and to the left, pulling down on the inner elbow with the right hand, sweeping with the right foot.
36. Attack--step in with a high front punch
   Response--Trap the punch with a high-section pressing block with X knife-hand, Kick to attacker's head with a high front kick.
37. Attack--Low front kick
   Response--Block and trap with low pressing block with X fist, step between attacker's legs holding attacker's right leg with left hand. Hit attacker to the face, then grab attacker's uniform and sweep with the right leg.
38. Attack--Rear leg mid-section side kick
   Response--Step to the left, block with left palm upward block. Hold leg up with the left arm, step in and sweep with the right foot.
   Response--Step to the left, block with a right knife-hand. Step in with the left foot grabbing the attacker's wrist with both hands, twisting the wrist away at the same time. Place the attacker's upturned elbow in your armpit and drop straight down, sliding your feet out in front. Pull up on the attacker's wrist, breaking the elbow.
40. Attack--Step in with mid front punch
   with both hands, and attack to the high-section with a left crescent kick. (Attacker ducks head forward) Follow through with crescent kick and drop it in front of the attacker, twisting the wrist away at the same time, sitting on the upturned elbow.
Pull the attacker's arm and break it.
41. Attack--Step in with a high front punch
   Response--Jump to left, both feet at the same time, kicking attacker to the chest with a right front turning kick, immediately deliver right hook kick to back of attacker's head.
42. Attack--Step in with mid front punch.
   Response--Block with left reverse crescent kick. Kick to attacker's low section with right front snap kick, followed immediately by high right side kick.
43. Attack--Step in with high front punch.
   Response--Step back into right knife-hand guarding block position kick attacker's low section with front snap kick, and do not put foot down. Jump up and deliver a high right front snap kick to attacker's face.
44. Attack--Step in with mid front punch.
   Response--Block punch with left reverse crescent kick. Deliver right front turning kick to attacker's ribs, followed immediately by high-section front turning kick to attacker's neck. Leave the kick hooking the attacker's neck, and finish with a palm strike to attacker's face.

Sparring Combinations

33. Front foot reverse crescent kick, same leg front turning kick, same leg hooking kick. All done without dropping the foot.
34. Front leg side kick, same leg front turning kick (without dropping the foot), then back kick.
35. Front foot ax kick hit the floor, same leg front turning kick, same leg hooking kick (without dropping the foot).
36. Reverse punch, rear leg crescent kick, same leg side kick, then back kick.
37. Defensive sparring against a side kick: push side kick down/sideways follow with front leg hooking kick when in closed stance or front leg twisting kick, front turning kick combination if in open stance.
38. Defensive sparring against front turning kick: spin back kick if in open stance or move to side with front kick or front turning kick if in closed stance.
39. Defensive sparring against back kick: push kick down/sideways moving to side with a front kick or turning kick.
40. Defensive sparring against attack of your choice: make up a counter attack against any attack.
First Degree Black Belt

Pattern

1. All lower belt patterns
2. Kwang-Gae
3. Po-Eun
4. Gae-Baek

Vocabulary

1. Black Belt is the opposite of white; therefore, signifying one’s maturity and proficiency in Taekwon-Do. It also indicates the wearer’s imperviousness to darkness and fear.
2. Kwang-Gae is named after the famous Kwang-Gae-Toh-Wang, the 19th King of the Koguryo Dynasty, who regained all the lost territories including the greater part of Manchuria. The diagram represents the expansion and recovery of the lost territories. The 39 movements refer to the first two figures of 391 A.D., the year he came to the throne.
3. Po-Eun is the pseudonym of a loyal subject Chong Mong-Chu (1400) who was a famous poet and whose poem "I would not serve a second master though I might be crucified a hundred times" is known to every Korean. He was also a pioneer in the field of physics. The diagram represents his unerring loyalty to the king and country towards the end of the Koryo Dynasty. 36 movements.
4. Gae-Baek is named after Ge-Baek, a great general in the Baek Je Dynasty (660 AD). The diagram represents his severe and strict military discipline. 44 movements.
5. Grandmaster Hwang’s written history of Taekwon-Do.
6. General Choi’s biography

Written Requirement:

Write a 2-3 page explanation of your understanding of “Black Belt in life for life".
First Degree Black Belt

What to expect from this belt:

This rank is where the deeper aspects of training begin to happen. Students that achieve their black belt usually feel a combination of confidence and vulnerability, largely because they see their own ability but also see that they have only learned a small amount of what Taekwon-Do really has to offer. The excitement that accompanies earning a black belt is also a significant piece of training because black belts are the leaders of the school and are called upon to act as such when in class and when outside of class.

One of the challenges that can arise at this level is stagnation due to the length of time between tests, and the continued practice of techniques learned several years earlier. This is difficult because at the black belt level students are learning new material but also focusing on the basic techniques that are fundamental to all of Taekwon-Do. This is especially difficult for children because it is not always easy to understand why there is need to repeat a technique or pattern; in addition to, the fact that the deeper applications of techniques can sometimes be quite complicated. Another challenge that is not as common, but does occur at the black belt level, is the struggle with overconfidence and an inflated ego. Specifically, black belts sometimes forget that they are not omniscient, leading to a sense of not needing to learn anything further. When this occurs, students can feel as though they are “above” coming to basic classes and feel as though they can lead others without continuing to train on their own material. This particular struggle can be very serious if the student is not able to work through it because it can significantly impact a black belt’s ability to lead and maintain respect from other students. This struggle is a true test of all the Tenets, Courtesy: toward peers, students, and the Instructor, Integrity: as stated earlier, we all can learn from everyone we come in contact with, regardless of age, rank, or ability, Perseverance: patience for our own learning processes and continuing to practice and attend classes, Self Control: with classmates who may not be as advanced, in other words, refraining from constant critiquing, Indomitable Spirit: believing in your own ability without the need to be seen as great.

ALL black belts struggle with training, in some way, at different stages throughout their Taekwon-Do career. The best feeling is coming through a struggle and feeling the progress that has actually been made. Struggles and stagnation are about growth and should be treated as such so that the lessons are not lost. Being a black belt is more than just wearing a belt and being good at punching and kicking. When a person makes the connections between the mental, spiritual and physical aspects of Taekwon-Do and strives to live the “Way” of the Tenets both in class and outside of class is when they truly become a black belt. As “preachy” as this may sound it is extremely important and valid. I have seen many black belts lose their way because they did not maintain their humility and did not live up to the demands of being a true black belt.

The last notion to ponder at this level is the rationale behind, literally, wearing a black belt. Beyond the symbol of the color black, students earn the black belt and are to wear one black belt for the rest of their lives. The reason for this is that the black wears out over time and actually begins to lighten in color, turning to light black, then to grey and eventually back to white reminding the wearer that there is no end to knowledge. Now, most black belts update their belts as they advance in degree so it is especially important to remember this point each and every time you tie your belt.
The History of Taekwon-Do

Written by:

Grandmaster Hwang, Kwang Sung, K-9-1

Taekwon-Do was brought into this world on April 11, 1955. Before this time there was no Taekwon-Do, no Chon-Ji or Dan-Gun tul; the original Taekwon-Do patterns.

In 1957, General Choi Hong Hi, who was also elected as its first president, established the Korean Taekwon-Do Association. It is impossible to explain the history of Taekwon-Do without mentioning General Choi Hong Hi, the president of ITF.

General Choi was born in 1918 in a small, rural village called Ham Kyung Buk Do, Myung Chun Gun Hwa Dae Myun in what is now North Korea. When he was young, his parents were concerned because his body was frail and weak, although he was independent and very responsible. The young boy, like the future General he would one day become, was strong on the inside in mind and spirit. When he was 12 years old, he was expelled from school for being an agitator to the Japanese authorities. Japan occupied the Korean peninsula at the time. His parents enrolled him in a private school where he studied calligraphy under the renowned Mr. Han IL Dong. Coincidentally, Han also happened to be a Master of Taekyon, the Korean art of foot fighting. Taekyon dates back to about 200-300 years ago because Taekyon can only be written with the Korean alphabet. The Korean alphabet was developed only several hundred years ago. But the history of Korea and other martial arts, such as Soo Bak Gi, have been practiced since ancient times.

While General Choi was in Kyoto, Japan, he met a fellow Korean by the name of Mr. Kim Hyun Soo. Mr. Kim introduced karate to General Choi. This experience, along with his knowledge of Taekyon, influenced his development of the new Korean martial art of “Taekwon-Do.”

Taekwon-Do movements and techniques are scientifically designed to create power. Compared with other martial arts, Taekwon-Do is well structured, using descriptive terminology for the anatomy and physics, with well-established rules of competition.
However, Taekwon-Do is similar to other martial arts in its original purpose. Large or small, young or old, male or female, anyone can benefit from and enjoy practicing Taekwon-Do and learn to create maximum power. All the techniques and theories of Taekwon-Do are contained in a 15-volume encyclopedia originally published in 1980. General Choi not only proposed the name “Taekwon-Do,” but also developed the techniques, terminology, and its system for teaching and training. His comprehensive book on Taekwon-Do allowed him to reach millions of students throughout the world. General Choi personally taught Taekwon-Do himself throughout the world, gaining many faithful students.

When World War II broke out, General Choi was drafted against his will into the Japanese army as a “student soldier.” While stationed at Pyongyang, North Korea, he planned an insurrection as part of the Korean Independence Movement called the Pyongyang Students Soldiers’ Movement. He was turned into Japanese authorities and was interned at a Japanese prison camp. He was freed the day after Japan surrendered, August 15, 1945, ending World War II. That was how he saved his life and began a second life. While in the solitude of his jail cell, he practiced martial arts training with his bare hands and feet on a cold concrete floor. He promised himself that if he were ever to live in freedom, he would dedicate his entire life to building Korea’s martial arts program.

There is an oriental expression that disaster will turn to happiness and happiness will turn to disaster. If General Choi had been a nine-foot tall giant, Taekwon-Do would probably not exist. If Korea had not endured 36 years of occupation by the Japanese, General Choi might not have developed patience; the patience that enabled him to establish Korea’s own martial arts. It is difficult to imagine but Japan’s attempt to destroy Korean culture inspired General Choi to create a martial art for 20 million Koreans.

Taekwon-Do has twenty-four unique patterns developed by General Choi. The reason for this is that when you consider eternity, the lifetime of one person, perhaps one hundred years; is only one day. Therefore, the twenty-four patterns represent twenty-four hours of the day, or the lifetime of General Choi, his legacy to the human race. The first of these patterns is named Chon-Ji, which means “heaven and earth.” It is interpreted in the Orient as the creation of the universe and the beginning of human history; therefore, it is the pattern practiced by the beginner. The next pattern is Dan-Gun, and as any Korean is well aware, Dan-Gun is the legendary founder of Korea. The next pattern is called Do-San. Do-San is the pseudonym of the patriot Ahn-Chang-ho (1876 – 1938) who devoted his entire life to the education of Korea and its independence movement. The patterns are Won-Hyo, a noted monk, and Yol-Gok, a great philosopher. Joong-Gun, the next pattern, was named after the patriot Ahn-Joong Gun. The 32 movements in this pattern represent his age when he was executed in Lui Shung prison in 1910. Subsequent patterns are Tae-Gae, Hwa-Rang and Choong-Moo, the name given to Admiral Yi Soon-Sin. The final pattern is called Tong-il. Tong-il denotes the reunification of Korea, which was General Choi's lifetime wish.

As I speak of the origin of Taekwon-Do, I must mention the period of Japanese occupation of Korea. It was a time of great hardship for the Korean people. It is not my intention to offend our neighboring country, but this period deeply influenced General Choi and the development of Taekwon-Do and I am compelled to discuss its impact. From 1946 to 1954, General Choi studied and developed this new Korean martial art. On April 11, 1955, General Choi convened a meeting of prominent Koreans including leaders in Congress, politicians, military generals, historians, artisans, and martial art experts, for the purpose of naming this art. General Choi proposed the name “Taekwon-Do” and it was unanimously accepted. These were the circumstances under which Taekwon-Do was born and became Korean's new martial art.

In 1959, General Choi established the Korean Taekwon-Do Association and was elected as its first president. He was a founding member of the Korean military and served as Commander of the Infantry Division, Commander of Army Training Center and Commander of Army Corps. Through these positions, General Choi incorporated Taekwon-Do into the daily training regimen of the entire Korean military.

In 1961, Taekwon-Do spread to colleges, government offices and police academies. This started a real boom in the expansion of Taekwon-Do. Finally, in 1965, Taekwon-Do became the official Korean national martial art. The International Taekwon-Do Federation (ITF) was founded on March 22, 1966. The original member countries were: United States, West Germany, Italy, Egypt, Turkey, Malaysia, Singapore, Vietnam and Korea. The ITF was the first international organization headquartered in Korea.

Unfortunately, several military dictatorships governed Korea for over 30 years. This marked the beginning of a period of trials for Taekwon-Do. Using the name Taekwon-Do, many phony organizations appeared as political tools, cheapening Taekwon-Do into a commercial sport. Every student of Taekwon-Do must endeavor to sacrifice for the unification of Taekwon-Do. Martial artists, not politicians, must decide the destiny of Taekwon-Do. The unification of Taekwon-Do is inevitable. Taekwon-Do is our life and we must pass a single, united Taekwon-Do down to the next generation. All martial arts should insist that the influence of politicians should be removed from martial arts organizations. We must rebuild our martial arts organizations with martial artists only. We cannot ask anyone else to conduct our business or define our mission. We cannot pass this responsibility to others. We must ensure the next generation receives its rightful inheritance.
First Degree Black Belt

The Founder of Taekwon-Do
General Choi Hong Hi
November 9, 1918 - June 15, 2002

General Choi Hong Hi was born on November 9th, 1918 in the rugged and harsh area of Hwa Dae, Myong Chun District in what is now D.P.R of Korea. In his youth, he was frail and quite sickly, a constant source of worry for his parents.

Even at an early age, however, the future general showed a strong and independent spirit. At the age of twelve he was expelled from school for agitating against the Japanese authorities who were in control of Korea. This was the beginning of what would be a long association with the Kwang Ju Students' Independence Movement.

After his expulsion, young Choi's father sent him to study calligraphy under one of the most famous teachers in Korea, Mr. Han II Dong. Han, in addition to his skills as a calligrapher, was also a master of Taek Kyon, the ancient Korean art of foot fighting. The teacher, concerned over the frail condition of his new student, began teaching him the rigorous exercises of Taek Kyon to help build up his body.

In 1937, Choi was sent to Japan to further his education. Shortly before leaving, however, the youth had the misfortune to engage in a rather heated argument with a massive professional wrestler who promised to literally tear the youth limb from limb at their next encounter. This threat seemed to give a new impetus to young Choi's training in the martial arts.

In Kyoto, Choi met a fellow Korean, Mr. Him, who was engaged in teaching the Japanese martial art, Karate. With two years of concentrated training, Choi attained the rank of first degree black belt. These techniques, together with Taek Kyon (foot techniques), were the forerunners of modern Taekwon-Do. There followed a period of both mental and physical training, preparatory school, high school, and finally the University in Tokyo. During this time, training and experimentation in his new fighting techniques were intensified until, with attainment of his second degree black belt, he began teaching at a YMCA in Tokyo, Japan.

Choi recounts a particular experience from this period of time. There was no lamp-post in the city that he didn't strike or kick to see if the copper wires ahead were vibrating in protest.

"I would imagine that these were the techniques I would use to defend myself against the wrestler, Mr. Hu if he did attempt to carry out his promise to tear me limb from limb when I eventually returned to Korea."

With the outbreak of World War II, the author was forced to enlist in the Japanese army through no volition of his own. While at his post in Pyongyang, North Korea, the author was implicated as the planner of the Korean Independence Movement and interned at a Japanese prison during his eight month pretrial examination.
While in prison, to alleviate the boredom and keep physically fit, Choi began practicing this art in the solitude of his cell. In a short time, his cellmate and jailer became students of his. Eventually, the whole prison courtyard became one gigantic gymnasium.

The liberation in August 1945 spared Choi from an imposed seven year prison sentence. Following his release, the ex-prisoner journeyed to Seoul where he organized a student soldier’s party. In January of the following year, Choi was commissioned as a second lieutenant in the new South Korean army, the "Launching Pad" for putting Taekwon-Do into a new orbit.

Soon after, he made company commander in Kwang-Ju where the young second lieutenant lighted the torch of this art by teaching his entire company and was then promoted to first lieutenant and transferred to Tae Jon in charge of the Second Infantry Regiment. While at his new post, Choi began spreading the art not only to Korean soldiers but also to the Americans stationed there. This was the first introduction to Americans of what would eventually become known as Taekwon-Do.

1947 was a year of fast promotion. Choi was promoted to captain and then major. In 1948, he was posted to Seoul as the head of logistics and became Taekwon-Do instructor for the American Military Police School there. In late 1948, Choi became a lieutenant colonel.

In 1949, Choi was promoted to full colonel and visited the United States for the first time, attending the Fort Riley Ground General School. While there, this art was introduced to the American public. And in 1951, Choi was promoted to brigadier general. During this time, he organized the Ground General School in Pusan as Assistant Commandant and Chief of the Academic Department. Choi was appointed as Chief of Staff of the First Corps in 1952 and was responsible for briefing General MacArthur during the latter's visits to Kang Nung. At the time of armistice, Choi was in command of the 5th Infantry Division.

The year 1953 was an eventful one for the General, in both his military career and in the progress of the new martial art. He became the author of the first authoritative book on military intelligence in Korea. He organized and activated the crack 29th Infantry Division at Cheju Island, which eventually became the spearhead of Taekwon-Do in the military and established the Oh Do Kwan (Gym of My Way) where he succeeded not only in training the cadre instructors for the entire military but also developing the Taek Kyon and Karate techniques into a modern system of Taekwon-Do, with the help of Mr. Nam Tae Hi, his right hand man in 1954.

In the latter part of that year, he commanded Chong Do Kwan (Gym of the Blue Wave), the largest civilian gym in Korea; Choi was also promoted to major general.

On the 11th of April 1955, the board summoned by Gen. Choi, decided on the name of Taekwon-Do which had been submitted by him. This single unified name of Taekwon-Do replaced the different and confusing terms; Dang Soo, Gong Soo, Taek Kyon, Kwon Bup, etc.
In 1959, Taekwon-Do spread beyond its national boundaries. The father of Taekwon-Do and nineteen of his top black belt holders toured the Far East. The tour was a major success, astounding all spectators with the excellence of the Taekwon-Do techniques. In this year, Choi was elevated to two illustrious posts; President of his newly formed Korea Taekwon-Do Association and deputy commander of the 2nd Army in Tae Gu.

1960 Took military course in Texas. While there, he visited Jhoon Rhee's Karate Club where he convinced the instructor and students to use the term Taekwon-Do. Marked beginning of TKD in the U.S. Assigned to command largest ROC Training Ctr. in Korea and newly assigned 6th Army Corps.

1961 TKD introduced into the curriculum at West Point. Promoted TKD as a compulsory subject for all S. K. armed and police forces.

1962 Appointed Ambassador to Malaysia, TKD Demonstration at the United Nations in New York City. TKD grows in Malaysia, Singapore and Brunei.

1963 TKD introduced to Vietnam when Gen. Choi demonstrates perfected forms to instructors. The new forms eliminated the remaining vestiges of Karate in the Art. Re-elected President of Korea Taekwon-Do Association.

1965 Ambassador Choi, retired two-star general, appointed by Korean Government to lead a goodwill mission to West Germany, Italy, Turkey, United Arab Republic, Malaysia, and Singapore and to introduce TKD as the national martial art of Korea.

On the 22nd of March 1966, the International Taekwon-Do Federation was formed with associations in Vietnam, Malaysia, Singapore, West Germany, the United States, Turkey, Italy, Arab Republic of Egypt and South Korea.

1967 Received First Class Distinguished Service Medal from Vietnam and helped form Korea-Vietnam TKD Foundation. Visited Hong Kong and the U. S.

1968 Attended Sports Military Symposium in Paris as Korean delegate. Also visited Spain, the Netherlands, Canada, Belgium, India.

1969 Toured Southeast Asia for preparation of First Asian TKD Tournaments. Toured 29 countries to spread TKD and collect material for his book 1970 Toured 20 countries throughout SE Asia, Canada, Europe, and the Middle East.

1971 Visited Malaysia and selected TKD instructors to be sent to train Rep. Of Iran Armed Forces

1972 World tour to introduce TKD to heads of states of Bolivia, Dominican Republic, Haiti, and Guatemala. This year Gen. Choi moved to Canada, and ITF headquarters also moved to Toronto to facilitate the spread of TKD to Eastern Europe. He overcame many difficulties to develop Taekwon-Do.

One Step Self Defense

45. Attack – Step in with mid-section punch
   Response – Step to outside of punch with a knife-hand block, grab wrist with right hand, bend elbow with left hand pushing punch toward attacker’s body making a 90 degree wrist lock covering attacker’s elbow with left hand, finish with leg sweep take down then punch.
46. Attack – Step in with mid-section punch
   Response – Step to outside of punch with a knife-hand block followed by reverse knife-hand strike to face then cross leg sweep attackers foot while pushing attacker’s shoulder with right hand, finish with punch.
47. Attack – Downward strike with knife
   Response – Step back with high-section pressing block with x-fists, grab wrist then bring attacker’s wrist down and back up in a rolling motion to expose the shoulder, knee strike to attackers shoulder, downward elbow strike to neck, grab attacker’s waist line, push attackers arm while pulling waistline forward throwing attacker to ground.
48. Attack – Upward strike with knife
   Response – Step back with low pressing block with x-fists, grab wrist, raise attackers arm stepping under arm pull attacker’s hand to attacker’s mid-section, reach around attackers mid-section pulling attacker’s strike into attacker’s mid-section, reach down to attacker’s ankles and pull back/up while pushing attacker’s waist with shoulder.
49. Attack – Mid-section straight attack with knife
   Response – Step to outside of attack with left hand palm block then grab, pull left hand back while striking back of attacker’s hand with right palm, wrist lock, and step back pulling attacker’s hand down for takedown, finish with strike and/or break.
50. Attack – Front diagonal slash with knife Response – Step to inside of strike with parallel forearm block, grab wrist with left hand, right elbow to attacker’s mid-section, right back fist to attacker’s face, bring attacker’s arm to shoulder pulling down to dislocate the elbow.

51. Attack – Back diagonal slash with knife Response – Step to outside with parallel forearm block grabbing attacker’s wrist and shoulder, continue stepping around attacker bringing attacker’s arm down to floor for a takedown, finish with strike to neck/face/shoulder.

52. Attack – Mid-section straight attack with knife
   Response – Pivot hips in place grabbing the inside of attacker’s wrist with right hand, forearm strike with the left arm to attacker’s elbow, left elbow strike to attacker’s mid-section or high-section, finish with knee strike to attacker’s midsection.

53. Attack – Choke from behind Response – Turn chin into elbow joint, elbow strike to attacker’s ribs dropping into sitting stance, pull down on attacker’s arm with both hands dropping outside knee to floor while turning inward, finish with counter attack.

54. Attack – Choke from side with defender bending over Response – Turn chin into attacker’s body, reach up with inside hand grabbing attacker’s shoulder/ear/neck/face while grabbing back of attacker’s knee with outside hand, pull attacker’s shoulder/ear/neck/face backward while pushing attacker’s knee forward while raising own body upward, finish with strike to attacker’s back/head/neck.

Sparring Combinations

41. Side kick followed by jumping spin kick.
42. Rear leg twisting kick, same leg front turning kick (done without dropping leg), then back kick.
43. Front punch, spin kick, touch floor same leg front turning kick then hook kick without dropping leg.
44. Front foot front turning kick, double punch, rear leg front turning kick.
45. Front foot hooking kick with a slide while partner steps back, then same leg front turning kick, back kick.
46. Front foot front kick, same leg side kick, same leg front turning kick without dropping leg.
47. Front foot reverse crescent kick with a slide while partner steps back, then double punch, crescent kick.
48. Rear leg fake with front kick tuck followed by front turning kick, back kick.

Vocabulary

1. EUI-AM is the pseudonym of Son Byong Hi, leader of the Korean independence movement on March 1, 1919. The 45 movements refer to his age when he changed the name of Dong Hak (Oriental culture) to Chondo Kyo (Heavenly way religion) in 1905. The diagram represents his Indomitable Spirit, displayed while dedicating himself to the prosperity of his nation.
2. CHOONG-JANG is the pseudonym given to General Kim Duk Ryang who lived during the Lee Dynasty, 14th century. This pattern ends with a left-hand attack to symbolize the tragedy of his death at 27 in prison before he was able to reach full maturity. 52 movements.
3. JUCHE is a philosophical idea that man is the master of everything and decides everything. In other words, the idea that man is the master of the world and his own destiny. It is said that this idea was rooted in Baekdu Mountain which symbolizes the spirit of the Korean people. The diagram represents Baekdu Mountain. 45 movements.

Written Requirements

Write a 2-3 page essay on your understanding of “The Way”. What is it? How do you follow it, see it, find it, etc.?
What to expect from this belt:

Students that earn their second degree face struggles but, for the most part, there are few new challenges for the life long student as he/she has likely experienced many of the probable challenges at some point in their training. Therefore, re-examining all lower rank challenges is wise because the path through the challenges remains largely the same, regardless of rank.

In most cases, second degree black belts find their technical understanding improves profoundly, as does their physical ability. Additionally, being challenged by newer and significantly more difficult techniques, combinations, patterns, and basics does not seem to be nearly as daunting because students have grown accustomed to, and look forward to, the never ending learning process.

At this rank it becomes increasingly more important to consider teaching in some capacity. Although it is not required, or essential, it offers another avenue for fostering Taekwon-Do ability both physically and mentally. Explaining and teaching works the student’s knowledge base, as it requires a deeper examination of each technique. Additionally, being a black belt is being a leader; therefore, standing up in a leadership role allows lower ranking students to see the Tenets in action.
The Last Words Of General Choi Hong Hi
November 9, 1918 - June 15, 2002

I am the man who has the most followers in the world.
I am the happiest man who has done everything to do in my life.
It is fortunate you have come.
Is Mr. Chang Ung here?
Mr. Rhee Ki Ha, it is good that you have come. I am glad that my son and daughters like you the most.
You probably might know Mr. Chang Ung is the tallest in the highest position in the ITF.
If only I had been as tall as Mr. Chang Ung, I could have had less opponents; however, as my body was so tiny that there were many opponents. Thus, all alone, I could not but fight against them for so long.
But I have never been worn out for the justice was on my side.
I have always worried about a successor to the president; however, my mind is set at ease for there is Mr. Chang Ung.
Mr. Hwang Kwang Sung, your duty is very big and important as a spokesman and the Chairman of the Merger Committee. It was my wish to merge the Taekwon-Do into one. Please get on your own duty responsibly.
Mr. Park Jong Soo had immigrated into Canada in 1967.
Before that he educated Taekwon-Do in Europe.
In 1972, I went to Canada where Mr. Pak Jong Su resided leaving my children behind without informing them.
In those days Taekwon-Do was not widely spread, so that I used to say to crave the words of Taekwon-Do on my coffin.
Now Taekwon-Do has developed on a large scale.
I love Mr. Tom MacCallum.
I have always worried if he might die before me. In case he dies first, I have been thinking how to help his family.
He has given the special contributions to the ITF.
I have no secrets to him.
Thank you very much for what you have done.
I love you.
Mr. Leong Wai Meng is a man of conscience indeed.
He has given a great contribution to educating the Taekwon-Do.
As I thought of his finance is in good condition, I drew his name out on the stockholders’ list of the Chang Hon Foundation.
Mr. Hwang Jin is doing well on the way of Mr. Chon Jin Sik.
So I appointed him as a member of the Consultative Committee.
Please enlarge the Consultative Committee into 9 members. Here I appoint Mr. Jong Jae Hun.
My followers,
Taekwon-Do never exists without the D.P.R. of Korea.
You should know this.
The ITF is an international organization and does it need to argue about ideology?
Does the United Nations belong to the Negroes because the Secretary General is a Negro?
Please give up this kind of idea.
Taekwon-Do must be Korean-centered. You ought to tell the public through the Internet that I did not forgive Jung Hwa. I forgave him as a father, but the Taekwon-Doists would never forgive him. Before Jung Hwa apologizes Taekwon-Doists the world over, he will never be forgiven. While I am still alive, you should send the message to the Internet the soonest as possible. The Taekwon-Do will exist forever.

THE PHILOSOPHY OF TAEKWON-DO
(Taekwon-Do Chul hak)

In recent years, there has been an upsurge in violence and a loss of morality in all levels of society, especially among the young. There are, of course a number of reasons for this.

Many psychologists today feel that this problem stems from frustration. Analysts, on the other hand, point out that these misguided people are indeed a disillusioned segment of society searching for values and relevance in what they consider deceitful, materialistic, and absurd world of wars and decadence.

Unfortunately, however, instead of constructively channeling their extraordinary energy and potential, far too many strike out in blind anger, destroying rather than building, or merely running away from it all by isolating themselves with drugs and their own worlds of fantasy. Presently, the tendency of "the stronger preying upon the weaker" appears to be at its peak. Frankly, the present world closely resembles a "corrupt age."

It is obvious that this phenomenon of society is not merely because of the struggle for survival, but mainly because of an overdeveloped material and scientific civilization. The former misleads the young to the extreme materialism or egoism, while the latter seized human beings with fear, though playing an essential role in public welfare.

Then what would be the remedy? Needless to say it is the development of moral civilization - the proper mental states of a human being as the lord of creation, enough to prevail or at least keep abreast with the development of material and scientific civilization.

The utmost purpose of Taekwon-Do is to eliminate fighting by discouraging the stronger's oppression of the weaker with a power that must be based on humanity, justice, morality, wisdom and faith, thus helping to build a better and more peaceful world.

All men, regardless of age, have felt that death is a shame, and lamented that they cannot live as long as the pine trees or the turtles that seem to live a thousand years. Righteous men, on the other hand, deplore the fact that justice does not always triumph over the tyranny of power. However, there are two ways to deal with these problems: The former, through mental discipline, the latter, through physical training. It is my firm belief that through Taekwon-Do, anyone can garner enough strength to become a guardian of justice, to challenge social disunity and, to cultivate the human spirit to the highest level attainable. It is in this spirit, I am dedicating the art of Taekwon-Do to the people of the world.
The philosophy of Taekwon-Do is based on the ethical, moral, and spiritual standards by which men can live together in harmony, and its art patterns are inspired by the ideals and exploits of great men from Korean history. Korea’s famous military and civil leaders who in nearly five thousand years of Korean history have never invaded their neighbor yet who fought bravely and made great self-sacrifices to defend their homeland against invading enemies. I also include the names of patriots who willingly gave up their lives to regain Korea’s freedom and independence from the Japanese occupation.

Each Tul (pattern) of Taekwon-Do expresses the thoughts and the actions of these great men, so the students of Taekwon-Do must reflect the true intentions of those whose name each Tul bears. Therefore, under no circumstances should Taekwon-Do be used for any commercial or political purpose whatsoever.

I have set forth the following philosophy and guidelines which will be the cornerstone of Taekwon-Do and by which all serious students of this art are encouraged to live.

1. Be willing to go where the going may be tough and do the things that are worth doing even though they are difficult.
2. Be gentle to the weak and tough to the strong.
3. Be content with what you have in money and position but never in skills.
4. Always finish what you begin, be it large or small.
5. Be a willing teacher to anyone regardless of religion, race or ideology.
6. Never yield to repression or threat in the pursuit of a noble cause.
7. Teach attitude and skill with action rather than words.
8. Always be yourself even though your circumstances may change.
9. Be the eternal teacher who teaches with the body when young, with words when old, and by moral precept even after death.
COMPOSITION OF TAEKWON-DO
(Taekwon-Do Goosung)

Taekwon-Do is composed of fundamental movements, patterns, dallyon, sparring and self-defense techniques that are so closely related that it is impossible to segregate one phase of instruction from another. Fundamental movements are necessary for sparring and patterns, while both patterns and sparring are indispensable for perfection of fundamental movements.

In the illustration (page 725 of the Condensed Encyclopedia), one can see it is difficult to distinguish the beginning of the cycle from the end. There is, in fact, like the Deity, no beginning or end. A student will find that he will have to return time and time again to the beginning fundamental movements to perfect his advanced sparring and self-defense techniques.

Each fundamental movement, in most cases, represents an attack or defense against a particular target area or definite action of an imaginary opponent or opponents. It is necessary to learn as many fundamental movements as possible and fit them into complete proficiency so the student can meet any situation in actual combat with confidence. The pattern actually places the student in a hypothetical situation where he must avail himself to defense, counterattack, and attack motions, against several opponents. Through constant practice of these patterns, the attack and defense become a conditioned reflex movement. Power and speed must be developed to such a high degree that only one single blow is needed to stop an opponent, so the student can shift stance and block or attack another opponent. Each pattern is different from the other in order to develop reaction against changing circumstances.

Once the basic patterns are mastered, the student then begins to physically apply the skill obtained from fundamental patterns and movements to sparring against actual moving opponents.

Collaterally with sparring, the student must begin to develop his body and toughen his attacking and blocking tools so he is able to deliver maximum damage in actual combat. Once a student has applied himself to fundamental movements, patterns, sparring and dallyon, then the time has arrived for the student to test his coordination, speed, balance, and concentration against spontaneous attacks: i.e. Self-defense. The student will constantly find himself returning, however, to his fundamentals even when he has achieved the highest possible degree of self-defense techniques. As in military training, Taekwon-Do progression follows a certain parallel:

1. Fundamental Movements
2. Dallyon (defined later in manual)
3. Patterns
4. Sparring
5. Self-defense = Individual soldiers’ basic training
   = Maintenance of equipment (your body and mind)
   = Platoon tactics
   = Field exercises in simulated combat conditions
   = Actual Combat
Dallyon is the Korean word for "equipment maintenance". In Taekwon-Do equipment refers to our bodies. Dallyon is the maintenance of our bodies, consisting of:

Forging - The toughening of our attacking and blocking tools, such as hands and feet.

Stretching - Flexibility helps prevent injury and promotes great technique and overall health. It's very important that we never underestimate the importance of flexibility.

Running - Our bodies need to be conditioned to handle extended lengths of rigorous activity. Endurance and stamina are crucial in sparring, exercising and the possibility of self-defense. We hope that we never have to use our self-defense training outside the dojang but if the situation does arise we need to be able to last longer and fight harder than our attacker.

Weight training - Strong muscles create strong technique. Whether your punching, kicking or blocking an attacker, every move should be capable of disabling an attacker. Strong muscles are also important in preventing injury by promoting strong limbs, joints and bones.
